Summary:

Some updates to the project. I've incorporated a new GeoJson File related to active volcanos since 1960 and their Explosivity Index, show in each pop up. The fault data has also been updated to reflect the number of quakes near the fault lines, and anti-meridian line problem is resolved.

The colored legend on the top right is linked to the Earthquake Data and measures magnitude, while the bottom right legend is measuring the volcanic explosivity index of active volcanoes since 1960.

Working on a flyTo array of coords to travel to different parts of the Ring of Fire and tell a story about each area around the ring.
